INSPIRATIONS AND REFERENCES FOR ABIGAIL LOMBOY

Patrick and Victor Demarchelier

Both father and son have similar photography genres – simple concepts with big statements. As a photographer with an interest for fashion, but with no former experience in photographing it, looking at their work allowed for inspiration to arise. Their work is similar to my progressive work this semester as I dabbled in different simple concepts with people of different ethnicities.

Andrew G. Hobbs

I enjoy that Andrew G. Hobbs plays with different styles of work, which is what I see myself doing in the future. Like Hobbs, I want to be well rounded within a studio setting. I was influenced by his play with colourful gels and monochromatic styles. He draws a lot of emotion from his subjects through their gestures and faces.
