1) Opportunity

The map database would be used to promote the education of youth regarding indigenous-owned land.

2) Insight

Legally, according to agreements and treaties created by the Canadian government, the Indigenous groups in Canada own 35% of the world.

3) What people believe and what do you want them to believe

People believe that there is no gap between Indigenous and non-Indigenous citizens but the gap is still there. Non-Indigenous citizens aren't as educated on Indigenous rights as some people make them out to be.

4) Idea, how is it supposed to be executed

The database would be readily available to all citizens, specifically students.

5) Role of communication

It will encourage people to learn the history and story of the land they are on.

6) Tone of voice

Intelligent, educational.
